Guy L. Goodwin, Attorney in the Internal Security Division who has been designated by Assistant Attorney General Mardian to handle the case involving the theft of documents from our Media Resident Agency, was in contact with this Division late 4/1/71 with respect to developments in this case. He has been kept apprised of pertinent details as they occur and on several occasions daily during the past week indicated the Department was considering initiating some legal action against those who have flaunted the fact they have connections with the Citizens Commission to Investigate the FBI and printing copies of FBI documents in anti-establishment left wing newspapers. Specific reference was made to "Resist" the Cambridge, Massachusetts, group who, when contacted by Boston Agents on 3/29/71 refused to talk to the Agents even refusing to identify themselves. U

During this most recent contact, Goodwin advised the Internal Security Division was still working on the problem and we would be informed as soon as something specific was developed. He indicated there were considerable legal problems involved here and it was necessary extensive research be done in the Department. Acknowledging the serving of grand jury subpoenas requiring the appearance of individuals associated with organizations such as "Resist" could result in these people making admissions helpful to the FBI investigation or could act as a deterrent against additional disclosure, Goodwin advised the Department was not ready to make a decision. He specifically indicated the decision could not be made as in a usual criminal case by a U. S. Attorney since Mr. Mardian had taken it upon himself to make all final decisions in the Medburg case. U

ACTION: None. For information. Assistant Attorney General Mardian in his letter to the Director 3-29-71, instructed all matters, including prosecutive determinations in the Media case, should be discussed with Mr. Goodwin, the Chief of the Special Litigation Section, Internal Security Division. U
